

Diane Rourke

Retired Teacher & Recreational Speedgolfer

Bio

Diane is a 61-year-old retired high school PE teacher from Bend, Oregon who took up speedgolf two years ago after her running coach suggested it as a low-impact alternative to road racing. She plays once or twice a week with a small group of friends and isn't chasing trophies. She just loves that it keeps her moving and social. She uses her phone sparingly and prefers simple, no-fuss tools.

Quote

"I don't need fancy dashboards. I just want to know if I did better than last Tuesday."

User Matrix

Diane sits in the lower-left quadrant: casual speedgolf interest, casual tech use.

Axis	Diane's Position
Speed-run interest	Casual
Use of technology	Casual

Wants & Needs

- Simple round logging — strokes & time only
- Easy week-over-week progress view
- Group play scheduling with friends
- Encouragement, not competition
- Large, readable text and clear buttons

Pain Points

- Apps feel overwhelming and cluttered
- Doesn't want to create yet another account
- Can't log a round while running — too fiddly
- No easy way to share results with friends casually
- Feels the sport isn't designed "for her age"

Apps & Tech Used

Tool	How she uses it
iPhone Timer	Times her runs between holes
Notes app	Jots down strokes manually after each hole
Facebook Groups	Coordinates with her regular playing group
